FINAL ATTEMPT TO SAVE LANDMARK FROM PROGRESS

Call Mass Meeting to Try
And Raise Funds to Rescue Historic Structure

There will be a special joint mass meeting of the Casa Verdugo Park and Art Association and the Casa Verdugo Welfare Association at 8 o'clock Wednesday night, February 28, at "La Ramada," the old adobe on North Grand boulevard, between Randolph and Stocker streets.

The purpose of this mass meeting is to make one last appeal to the civic charity and mercy of Glendaleans, in an effort to save this historic Spanish structure and its beautiful, landscaped acreage from the hammer of the subdivider, the committee announces.

Thursday morning, March 1, the work of transforming this ancient estate into modern building lots will begin, unless some way is found to raise the money required to save it as a permanent community center.

Built During Revolution
"There is something grievously wrong about destroying an estate built during the American revolution," states Mrs. Roy A. Ballagh, president of the Casa Verdugo Park and Art Association. "We are letting the beauty spots of Glendale slip away, one by one, and the time will come for regret, but it will be too late then."

"Here, in this old adobe with its lovely shaded grounds, it was our purpose to found an art museum and library where old and young alike could congregate and enjoy the finer things of life, in these historic surroundings. But this dream is not to be, unless our mass meeting Wednesday night produces pledges of sufficient money to acquire a saving hold on La Ramada."

"We are going to do our best and we hope every citizen of this city who cares for the preservation of historic places and the enjoyment of life's finer things will turn out and help us."

Prominent speakers are promised for the meeting, also a musical program, under the direction of L. T. Rowley; and an exhibit of paintings that will include the Stendahl Galleries group, and groups by Jack Wilkinson Smith of Los Angeles and Walter L. Cheever of Glendale.

RUBBER MEN TO SMASH MONOPOLY

British Control of Crude
Product Jumps Price to New Record

WASHINGTON, D. C., Feb. 27.—Determined to break the British rubber monopoly, which will cost the American public more than $200,000,000 this year, two hundred leading automobile and tire manufacturers met in Washington today to lay the ground work of a campaign to shift the crude rubber production of the world from control of British to American interests.

American-backed rubber plantations in the Philippine islands and in South America is the answer the manufacturers hope to make to England's restriction of production and exportation of rubber, which bounced the price from 13 cents to 40 cents a pound in four months.

A handful of capitalists in Great Britain control 85 per cent of the world's crude rubber production," Harvey S. Firestone, promoter of the conference, told the International News Service today.

Senator Caraway, Battling Official, Beats Young Man

WASHINGTON, Feb. 27.—Senator T. H. Caraway of Arkansas, one of the most outspoken foes of the administration in congress, today further demonstrated his fighting ability by beating up a young man in front of a downtown hotel.

Caraway and his antagonist started quarreling in a street car and transferred their fight to the street. The Arkansan is said to have beaten the young man over the head with his umbrella, finally knocking him into a row of flower pots. Caraway refused to discuss the fight. The young man was unidentified.

DISCUSS PAVING CENTRAL AVENUE

Councilmen Ask Petition by Property Owners as to Their Wishes

Property owners on South Central avenue, who wish this street repaved, would do well to circulate a petition to this effect, according to an opinion expressed by Councilman C. E. Kimlin at last night's session of the City Council.

A brief discussion centered on the action which should be taken by the city administration toward the improvement of this main thoroughfare following the verbal protest by C. R. Carmack of 811 South Central avenue at the last council meeting.

"There are some people who want the street paved," remarked Councilman Kimlin. "Let us have an expression from them."

Mayor Spencer Robinson suggested publicity.

Council of Churches For Government Action

WASHINGTON, Feb. 27.—The United States government was asked today by the Federal Council of Churches "to assume full responsibility for bringing about a settlement of international problems," that a "world drift toward economic ruin and moral disaster" might be averted.

Fearing an "eclipse of civilization for centuries" unless America acts, and condemning the policy of aloofness, the administrative committee of the council demanded the government call an international conference to discuss Europe's troubles.

A complete review of the economic and political situation, including reparations, debts and armaments, looking to a result comparable to that achieved by the four-power treaty, was advocated.

Council Objects to Fortune Telling Tent

Gypsies were refused permission to establish a tent in which to tell fortunes by palmistry on Central avenue near Broadway, last night by the City Council.

John Martin, head of the Gypsy family, appeared at the city hall yesterday afternoon and showed City Clerk A. J. Van Wie recommendations from various communities and offered to put up a $50 bond.

Building Inspector H. C. Vandewater called attention to the fact that the proposed location for the tent would be in No. 1 fire district.

CABINET SHAKEUP NOW COMPLETED BY PRESIDENT

Harding Shifts Work to Interior Department and
New to Postoffice

WASHINGTON, Feb. 27.—President Harding today shifted Dr. Hubert Work from the post-office to the interior department, and nominated Senator Harry S. New of Indiana to succeed Dr. Work as postmaster-general.

The nominations were sent to the senate this afternoon and immediate confirmation was expected. The changes will become effective on March 4 with the retirement of Albert B. Fall as secretary of the interior.

Exclusive announcement of these appointments was made by International News Service on February 1.

Nomination Confirmed
The nomination of Senator New was confirmed by the senate in open executive session a few minutes after the nomination was formally presented.

Appointment of Senator New as postmaster-general and the shifting of Dr. Work to the interior department brings an end to a series of political rows that has been going on, with considerable embarrassment to President Harding ever since the initial publication of the proposed changes.

Republican elements in Indiana identified with the Beveridge and Watson factions entered vigorous protest to the elevation of Senator New to the cabinet and Representative Wood, Republican of Indiana, made two trips to the White House particularly to protest against Senator New's appointment. He predicted it would "wreck" the party in the state.

TRY WILSON FOR LAST JAIL BREAK

Authorities Act to Insure Life
In Prison for Convicted
Slayer

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 27.—Under heavy guard and with every precaution taken to prevent his escape, Herbert Wilson, convicted murderer and wealthy ex-minister-bandit, as debonair and dapper as ever, appeared before Superior Judge Shenk today for trial on a series of charges growing out of his last attempt to escape jail. The specific charges against Wilson were attempted murder, kidnapping and jail breaking.

Though already under prison sentence for life, but because of the system of paroling prisoners before the maximum period of sentence has expired, it was decided to try Wilson again to insure he will never be free from the penitentiary.

Wilson's conviction of murder and the subsequent sentence of life imprisonment grew out of his attempt to escape jail in company with Herbert Cox, his "pal" in the $500,000 robbery of a mail truck and whom Wilson is said to have killed when they were attempting a jail break.

Adopt New Theory in Remington Death Case

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 27.—Failure to find evidence supporting a probable motive for the crime today caused police detectives probing the mysterious slaying almost two weeks ago of Earl Remington, prominent clubman and "society bootlegger," to swing away from the theory that Remington was slain by rival bootleggers.

With the detectives putting less faith in the bootleg theory the investigation today was directed along other lines, particularly that there was a woman implicated in the slaying. Starting developments in the case are expected soon as a surprise move will be made by the police which will result in the arrest or elimination of a suspect, it was learned. Details of the new step to be taken have been carefully guarded by the officers but it is known it will be one of the biggest moves made in the investigation.

Industrial and Business Activity in District Record Breaker, Report

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 27.—"Not since 1920 has the opening month of the year been characterized by the industrial and business activity which marked January, 1923," said the monthly report of John Perrin, federal reserve agent of the twelfth district, made public today. "The total volume of business transacted, as indicated by debits to individual accounts at banks in twenty clearing house centers, was 16.5 per cent greater than in January, 1922, 5.9 per cent greater than in January, 1921, and 1.5 per cent greater than in January, 1920," the report stated. "A recent survey conducted by this bank showed that there had been an average increase of 27.2 per cent in the number of men employed in the principal industries of the district during the year ending February 1, 1923. In the majority of cases increases in employment had been accompanied by advances in wages."

GENERAL HINES TO BE DIRECTOR OF VETERAN BOARD

One of Leaders in World
War Gets Appointment
From President

WASHINGTON, D. C., Feb. 27.—Brigadier General Frank T. Hines, former chief of transportation of the A. E. F., has been selected by President Harding to succeed Colonel Charles R. Forbes as director of the United States veterans' bureau, it was announced at the White House this afternoon.

General Hines was born in Salt Lake City in 1879 and received a liberal agricultural education. Later he became an honor graduate of an artillery school and joined the Utah national guard. Before he was mustered out of the national guard in 1899 Hines had reached the rank of second lieutenant.

Rise Is Meteoric
Hines then entered the regular army as a second lieutenant in the artillery corps. His rise from then on was meteoric. He passed rapidly through the various grades until in 1918 he was appointed a temporary brigadier general. He was recommended for a permanent appointment as a brigadier general by President Wilson in 1919.

When the United States entered the world war, Hines was in Southern Europe, where he participated in numerous conferences with allied officers concerning this country's activity in the struggle. He is credited with developing the organization of the American troop transport service, and his achievement in carrying over 2,052,000 American soldiers to Europe in eighteen months and returning them home in eight months was regarded as a notable achievement.

Generous Response to Appeals for Flowers

The call of the American Legion auxiliary to the school children for flowers for the 264 sick ex-soldier boys at Sawtelle, Barlowe and Golden State hospitals, brought an overwhelming response.

So generous were the children and their mothers that two automobiles loaded down with gorgeous blooms, of every hue and variety, are on their way to the hospitals.

There, under the supervision of Mrs. George Kaeding, president of the American legion auxiliary, assisted by Mrs. Nellie Snow Hyer, chairman of the hospitalization committee, they will be distributed to the eager boys whose only touch of springtime will be these beautiful tributes from Glendale school children.

Her daughter, Miss Philippine M. Akers, who was also injured, and was taken to the hospital with her mother, is still suffering from injuries to her shoulders, neck and head and severe nervous shock.

Oil Workers Save Signal Hill Fields From Serious Fire

LONG BEACH, Feb. 27.—Averting a possible disastrous oil fire that would have destroyed most of the Signal Hill oil fields and saving many thousands of dollars' worth of high gravity oil that was flowing onto the ground, a crew of oil workers, commanded by "Happy" Yowells, famous "master" of unruly oil wells, succeeded today in stopping the raging oil flow of Rider well No. 1 in the Signal Hill district.

When the cap was finally placed on the big well after a continuous fight of more than ten hours, it was estimated that more than $65,000 worth of oil had been saved from the well from the time it first broke forth with an especially large flow yesterday.

Congregational church financial campaigners completed their activities yesterday and at their rally and jollification at the church last night reported that they had raised $40,000 of the desired $60,000 during their last week's intensive campaign among church members and friends.

IMPROVEMENT FOR P. E. BUS LINE STARTS SOON

Better Service Will Soon Be Under Way, Report to Credit Association

Inauguration of a more complete bus system by the Pacific Electric Railway Company in Glendale, to start March 1, was discussed at the regular weekly luncheon of the Glendale Credit Association yesterday, when Ed N. Radke, chairman of the committee that had been appointed to investigate a bus system that is to be supported by the local merchants, declared that the Pacific Electric had completed its plans for the commencement of a four bus service into Glendale.

The new equipment would be used in conjunction with the present bus service, and the machines, according to the information received by Mr. Radke, are to be mounted on White trucks.

The question had been raised as to whether the Pacific Electric would require additional franchises to run the proposed four bus service, but officials of the company, it was declared, assert that the present franchise permits the company to run busses into Glendale, without securing any additional permission or franchises.

Want Better Service

For some time the Glendale Credit Association has been investigating the possibilities of installing or supporting the inauguration of a bus system that would supply Glendale with additional transportation, but, in the face of the plans that are said to have been formed by the Pacific Electric, it is felt that no definite action will be taken by the association for the present.

A suggestion that the association hold a banquet to celebrate the first anniversary of its existence at the end of last December, had been referred to a committee, but the decision in the matter was postponed, and it was decided at yesterday's meeting to hold the banquet over until next summer, when it could be incorporated in the annual picnic.

The association endorsed the plan that has been formed by the Glendale Chamber of Commerce to have the local automobile dealers and supply houses sell Glendale name plates to be used on local cars to advertise the city.

Nelson Berry, Jr., of Eagle Rock, who has long enjoyed the distinction of being the youngest realtor in the state and who recently distinguished himself with greater as the seller of tombstones in Mrs. "Bumpstead Leigh" has found another avenue for his activities—yesterday he recovered a stolen car.

As Mr. Berry was preparing to leave his office on East Colorado boulevard last evening, he noticed a car across the street on Acacia with the lights burning and no one near. It had been there all day but Mr. Berry was under the impression that it belonged to workmen who are building a house on the lot in front of which it was parked. He investigated, found the registration number and address of the owner and called the house. Mrs. Julien Riehl, of 1359 37th Drive, answered the phone. She said the car belonged to her husband, who was working in Santa Monica and that it had been stolen the night before. The car is at the police station and will be delivered to the owner today.

He also is said to have helped in securing evidence for the grand jury hearing last fall which resulted in the indictments of six alleged members of the Klan for outrages.

Candidate for Vacancy on High School Board
 Notifies Clerk

Albert D. Pearce of 119 West Lexington today served formal notice on the clerk of the high school board of the Glendale Union high school district of his intention to run as a candidate for membership of the board in the election that is to be held on March 30, and asking that his name be placed on the ballots that are now being prepared.

Mr. Pearce, who is a member of the law firm of Evans & Pearce, has been a resident of Glendale for the past ten years, coming here shortly after his graduation from the University of Michigan, where he specialized in courses furnished by the law and literary schools, winning the degree of A.B. and LL.B.

Besides taking an active part in the public life of Glendale, Mr. Pearce has at all times shown his keen interest in educational matters and has striven to improve the standards that are in vogue in the public schools of the country today.  Night School

Mrs. Henrietta H. Kapp, lecturer of a Los Angeles house furnishings store, will speak at 8 o'clock tomorrow night in bungalow room 306 at the high school on the subject of "Salesmanship."

Paul E. Webb, instructor at the night school, announced this morning that tomorrow night's session would mark the conclusion of the course in salesmanship. The Glendale Night School is endeavoring to provide the community with instruction that will meet local needs." There are no registration fees and no entrance examinations. The study of investments has been outlined as follows: Organization of modern business stocks and bonds; classification of bonds; municipal bonds, government and foreign bonds; public utilities; industrial securities; real estate; reading the financial page of the newspaper; the stock exchange; the bank and your investments; general rules for making investments.

The Bank Account

All my business life I have felt this: That when I have persuaded any man to open an account with a bank, I have conferred a favor on him and his family.

He gets the habit of watching his deposits grow. He keeps his balance safe and healthy. It fosters his pride. It makes him a careful business man and earns him a place of credit. It gives him standing among the business men of his community.

There are many men who never keep a bank account. Their bank is their pocket book, and it is broke most of the time. They expect to find a hen that will some time lay them eggs of gold, and they forget that one egg in the hand is worth ten in the hen.

Start today by opening an account in our Representative Home Bank.

TODAY—An amendment has been proposed in Kansas to hold sheriffs and other law enforcement officers responsible for suppression of "mobs," which in that state can consist of as few as three persons, writes Douglas G. Tinsley.

TOMORROW—Paris has disproved the theory that "nobody loves a fat man," writes Alice Langeier. The rotund, the obese, the chubby are the "men of the hour" now in the French capital.

By DOUGLAS G. TINSLEY
For International News Service

Kansas City, Kan., Feb. 27.—The life of a sheriff and other law enforcement officers in Kansas will be a sad affair if an amendment to the famous Kansas "mob" law is passed by the legislature. For some years Kansas has had a law on its statute books which makes a "mob" out of any three persons who gather together and perform an unlawful act. Under this law the county or municipality in which said unlawful act occurs is liable to damages to the person injured.

Now comes a legislator who announces that the law is all right, so far as it goes, but that it does not go far enough. It seems that the original legislators, imbued with a measure of forgetfulness, or else prompted by humanitarian feelings, neglected to place sheriffs on the same plane with criminals when drafting the law. Not so with the aforesaid legislator. He wants more "teeth" in the law.

To that end he has introduced an amendment to the law which provides a felony sentence for any persons convicted of participating in mob actions, and it would permit the conviction on felony charges of peace officers who fail to suppress mobs. Under this amendment to the statute any sheriff, mayor, policeman or other officer could be sent to the penitentiary for a term of not less than two years and not more than five years, if he is convicted of failing to suppress any mob.

Should the amendment become a law, Kansas may be treated to the spectacle of a sheriff and his prisoner not only going to the penitentiary handcuffed together, but upon arrival both officer and prisoner being assigned to cells in the same institution.

Those who have been accustomed to treat with reverence the histories of the United States and to thrill at the glowing accounts of the feats of American arms in our various wars will receive a rude shock from the statement of General Hansen E. Ely, commander of Fort Leavenworth, that "the histories used in the public schools gloss over defects in American war history and contain a pack of lies."

Advocating support of the National Defense act, General Ely says, "We lost three or four times as much in blood and dead men and four times as much in money as we should have in the world war. Keep our mouths shut in the next war and let other nations do the boasting. We thought we could furnish a better airplane in a few months than our allies could, who had been at war for four years. And that's where

Noted Artist Will Tell How Etchings Are Made

"Etchings and How They Are Made" will be the subject of an informal talk by Ralph Pearson, etcher of international fame, tomorrow at 2 o'clock at Glendale Union High school.

Mr. Pearson was one of the ten founders of the Chicago Society of Etchers in 1910. The Print Makers' Society of California elected him to make the gift plate for the association members in 1922. He recently lectured before the Library Association of Los Angeles.

To make the lecture more interesting, Mr. Pearson will demonstrate the printing of an etching upon his etching press.

That settled the argument, for all the inquirer wanted to know was whether or not he had guessed the right party, no name being given.

RADIO DEVELOPMENT

By LIEUT JOHN R. IRWIN
U. S. AIR SERVICE (RESERVE)

RESONANCE
As pointed out in the preceding article, to properly understand the principles of resonance as applied to radio it is well to take a musical analogy. Take the instance of two tuning forks of the same characteristics, strike one until it gives forth a musical note, it will, on the principle of resonance, sound a similar note in the second fork without the latter being struck. However, the first fork will not actuate the second one unless they are similar in every characteristic. The pitch of the fork depends upon its physical construction, i. e., the length of the prongs and their thickness and weight. These sound waves striking the prongs of another tuning fork set the latter into vibration. This will not occur, however, unless the first fork radiates a succession of waves, each of which is of practically the same strength or amplitude. Such a train of waves of feeble damping (slowly decreasing amplitude) will build up in the second fork waves of gradually increasing amplitude. If, on the other hand, the waves from the first fork should be highly damped (come to rest quickly) no appreciable effect will be made on the latter. Thus we see that feeble damping—slowly decreasing amplitude of the waves, persistency of oscillation—is necessary if the principle of resonance, i. e., the setting up of vibrations in one body from waves sent out by another vibrating body of the same pitch, or wave length, is to be utilized. Uncle Wiggily Bedtime Stories

By HOWARD R. GARIS

UNCLE WIGGILY AND THE SNOWBALLS

"Uncle Wiggily, Uncle Wiggily! I'm sorry, but you'll have to get up early this morning!" called Nurse Jane Fuzzy Wuzzo to the bunny rabbit gentleman.

"Get up early? What for? Is my hollow stump bungalow on fire?" asked Mr. Longears, quickly springing from his bed.

"No, I'm thankful to say it isn't that," said the muskrat lady housekeeper. "But there has been a big snow storm and you'll have to shovel off the sidewalk."

"Oh, I don't mind that!" laughed Uncle Wiggily. So he gave his pink nose a twinkle, dressed, and, after a cup of hot carrot coffee, he went out to shovel the snow.

The bunny rabbit gentleman was tossing big masses of snow, first to one side and then to the other—clearing a path so the animal boys and girls could go to school when all of a sudden, there sounded some barks, growls and whines and a voice called:

"Oh, Uncle Wiggily, throw me a snowball!"

"And throw me one, too!" begged another voice.

The bunny rabbit gentleman looked around and saw Jackie and Peetie Bow Wow, the two puppy dog boys, who were on their way to recite their lessons to the Lady Mouse teacher in the hollow stump school.

"What is it you want me to do?" asked Uncle Wiggily, leaning on his shovel to take a little rest.

"Throw a snowball as far as you can throw it," begged Jackie, "and I'll race after it and bring it back. I can do it quicker than Peetie."

"No, you can't, either!" barked Peetie. "Please throw a snowball for me to run after, Uncle Wiggily."

"I'll throw one for each of you," said the bunny rabbit gentleman. In his paws he molded a round, white snowball and tossed it as far away as he could.

"That's for Peetie," he said, and after it raced Peetie, his paws scattering the snow in either side and his tail making little dots and dashes in the drifts.

"There, I'd like to see you run after a snowball any farther and any faster than I did, Jackie," panted Peetie, as he came back to where Uncle Wiggily was shoveling.

"You wait until I have my turn," spoke Jackie.

"Well, where's the snowball I threw for you to bring back, Peetie?" asked Uncle Wiggily.

"There it is," and the little puppy dropped a small wad of snow from his mouth.

"What's this? What's this?" cried Uncle Wiggily, pretending to be surprised. "This isn't the snowball I threw! I tossed away a big one and you bring me back a little one, Peetie."

"Well, it now—it melted in my mouth," explained Peetie.

THE WHATNOTS OF YESTERYEAR

Where are the whatnots of yesteryear? They have certainly vanished from hundreds of thousands of parlors and they have not yet made their reappearance as antiques. What has become of them? Are they up in the attic or down in the cellar? But so many people have no attic or cellar nowadays. What was done with the whatnot when the family moved into that apartment? Was it broken up for kindling wood or sold to the second-hand man? Surely he would have no chance to resell it. Will it some day come back as an antique and where shall we look for it if it does?

From the standpoint of aesthetics I hope that every whatnot in the land has been safely broken up for kindling wood.

Treasure Trove

But from another standpoint I could weep a tear over such a funeral pyre.

And that is the standpoint of articles on grandmother's or great Aunt Mary's whatnot was always a treasure trove.

I wonder how many of my Reader Friends remember such a treasure trove, either in their own parlors, generally kept sacred for Sunday afternoon consumption, or as the spot in some grandmother's or great Aunt's home to which they gravitated on being taken there to call, quite as surely as to the cookie jar.

I have never seen your Great Aunt's whatnot, of course, but I'm going to make some guesses as to what was on it. Perhaps some one will tell me how far I am right.

In the first place a conch shell, to which you were told to put your ear and listen for the sound of the sea. And you did hear it truly! And if the boy next door who had no great aunt, no whatnot and no conch shell said you couldn't, you were willing to fight him to prove it.

Father and His Toe

Young Wife: "I am just pinning for a silk Tuxedo coat-sweater for this spring, but I don't feel that I ought to spend my husband's salary on such a luxury. Do you think I could knit one cheaper than I could buy one? If so, please give directions for one soon. I am glad."

Answer: "If all wives were as thoughtful as you, the household budget would more successfully cover expenses. Of course you can make a silk sweater more reasonably than you can buy one. I will give you directions for such a sweater this coming Thursday—March first. The directions will be for size 34, but will tell how to add or decrease so that the garment will fit anybody."

Mrs. G. L.: "Kindly give me a recipe for Chocolate Spice Cup Cakes."

Answer: Chocolate Spice Cup Cakes—Cream together one cup of granulated sugar and one-half cup of butter. Stir into this one-half cup of sweet milk, two whole beaten eggs and the yolk of one extra egg, one-half cup of molasses, two cups of flour which have been sifted with one teaspoon of baking soda and one tablespoon of dry cocoa-powder and finally add one teaspoon of ground cinnamon and one-half teaspoon each of

A FELLA NEEDS A FRIEND

My Friend is in a sorry plight. He says so to our face. He's loaded thick with heavy lard and lost his pristine grace. He followed some directions once to melt off all his grease. Mashies ate him from a tub, but did he then have peace?

Drink he but tea and walked he miles in sunshine and in storm. And daily grew he lank and thin, and sylph-like was his form. But did he then have peace? Ah, no! Ah, no! once more. His appetite did not decrease. He daily grew more sore. And when he closed his eyes at night, of steaks and stews he dreamed, of cakes and pies and chops and steaks and puddings rich with cream. And so at last he rose and said: "My beauty makes me sad. I'll eat again the things I like. This diet is a fad."

Of course, his lard it all came back. He's fat who once was lean. But he's a singing in his shack, he's happy as a queen.

But, Friend, dear Friend! Thought you of this? While happy you may be, the doom that happy ever your fat head we contemplate sams gle! We like you, friend. Indeed we do. We hate like snakes to think that your great rhymes too soon will cease, too soon be on the blink.

There's diabetes, Friend, for one; there's apoplexy, too. There's Bright's and gout and boils, no doubt, disease galore you'll rue, if you persist in being fat and eating more'n you need. Oh, yes! You do that, Friend. We know! Your fat shows how you feed.

And so we say you need a friend to tell you, to your face, that lard thickly is not wise, you must get back your grace.

The GLENDALE The T. D. & L.

Reginald Barker's spectacular film drama, "Hearts Afire," now playing at the Glendale Theatre, features Anna Q. Nilsson and Frank Keenan in one of the strongest pictures in which either has ever appeared.

Of the many powerful elements that go to make this a big film, perhaps the outstanding one is the forest fire. It is amazing. Nothing of its kind has ever been done before. It stands alone, a unique example of what can be effected to achieve reality in this direction.

The story that provides the substance for this thrilling episode is Harold Titus' novel "Timber." It is concerned with the Michigan woods, and of a great, human love story therein.

EXECUTIVE RAPS KLAN ACTIVITIES

Louisiana Governor Tells of Progress of War on Masked Raiders

CHICAGO, Feb. 27.—Inasmuch as he has no further political ambitions in any direction, the fight he began on the Ku Klux Klan in Louisiana cannot be construed as a political move, said Governor John M. Parker, of Louisiana, in an interview here. The southern executive came to Chicago to address a mass meeting protesting the Klan's activities.

"Nor is it a religious movement," he said of the investigation of the Mer Rouge torture murders. "The Klan has the same right to organize as have the B'nai B'rith, Knights of Columbus or the Masons. But if they are to be permitted to take the law into their own hands, we might as well do away with civil officers."

From my own observations and from information that has come to me I believe there has been a marked decrease in Klan membership since discovery of the Mer Rouge bodies.

The governor said he had asked no help in the anti-Klan fight from any other governor nor had any been volunteered.

"I am here to call attention to the people," he added, "to the principles of Washington, Jefferson, Lincoln and Roosevelt—principles that are violated in every way by the Klan."

"The chief objection to the Klan can be summed up in four points. These are disregard for law, creation of discord among churches, discrimination against the Jew and Catholic, and operation under cover of masks."

Every spoonful of Kellogg's Bran helps free you from toxic poisons!

Constipation is largely responsible for auto-intoxication that leads to dangerous diseases unless it is not only checked but permanently relieved. Constipation, in fact, is the basis of a majority of human ailments which only help rid themselves of this serious, health-undermining condition, which can be easily done.

Constipation must be fought to a finish—not with pills and cathartics, which are dangerous to the delicate membranes of the intestines and temporary at best—but with nature's greatest cereal health food—Bran—Kellogg's Bran, which is as delicious as it is beneficial.

Kellogg's Bran is wonderful in its work because it is ALL BRAN. And to get permanent relief, ALL BRAN is a necessity, for it is the "bulk" of Kellogg's Bran that sweeps and purifies, ridding the system of poisons and bringing conditions to normal. Eat Kellogg's Bran regularly—at least two table-spoonfuls daily; as much with each meal in chronic cases—and we guarantee that you will get relief permanently and naturally.

Kellogg's Bran is delicious. You do not have to learn to like it. Eat it as a cereal or sprinkle on or mix with hot or cold cereals. Or, cook it with hot cereals, allowing two table-spoonfuls for each person. Kellogg makes wonderful muffins, griddle cakes, raisin bread, macaroons, etc. Recipes on package.

Leading hotels, clubs and restaurants serve Kellogg's Bran in individual packages. All grocers.

The GLENDALE The T. D. & L.

Reginald Barker's spectacular film drama, "Hearts Afire," now playing at the Glendale Theatre, features Anna Q. Nilsson and Frank Keenan in one of the strongest pictures in which either has ever appeared.

Of the many powerful elements that go to make this a big film, perhaps the outstanding one is the forest fire. It is amazing. Nothing of its kind has ever been done before. It stands alone, a unique example of what can be effected to achieve reality in this direction.

The story that provides the substance for this thrilling episode is Harold Titus' novel "Timber." It is concerned with the Michigan woods, and of a great, human love story therein.

Glendale Community Players Want Pianist

The Glendale Community Players are in need of a man or woman to play accompaniments during the rehearsals of the musical comedy on which they are now working. Somebody who can read easy, popular music, and who will attend regularly every Wednesday night. The players enjoy many social activities, and the rehearsals are always keenly enjoyed because of the happy, social atmosphere which permeates all the doings of the Community Players.

Persons interested in joining the Players should apply for membership cards to any of the officers of the organization. Pianists will please phone at once to the director, Nanno Woods, Glendale 394.

FAITH IN PRAYER TOPIC OF SERMON

Forgiving Spirit Is Needed
For Harmony With God,
Pastor Declares

At the Presbyterian church Sunday morning Rev. W. E. Edmonds stirred the hearts of his congregation with a powerful sermon based on the words of Jesus Christ, as recorded in the 11th chapter of Mark: "I say unto you, that whosoever shall say unto this mountain, be thou removed, and be thou cast into the sea; and shall not doubt in his heart, but shall believe that those things which he saith shall come to pass; he shall have whatsoever he saith. Therefore I say unto you, what things soever ye desire, when ye pray, believe that ye receive them, and ye shall have them. And when ye stand praying, forgive." There are those who, perhaps not in words but more definitely in their acts, who would seem to lay claim to being experts in matters of intercession, have to admit, either willingly or unwillingly, problems in prayer. There is help in recognizing that the basic principle in all prayer is the fact that we are God's children through faith in Jesus Christ. As believers, we should be content living in the center of His will, looking always for His hand and for the revelation of His purpose. Philosophical minds reason against the Christian doctrine of prayer on the ground that all things move according to the fixed natural laws and that even the Supreme Being does not interfere because those laws are of His own appointment, and obedience to them is encouraged. Great business organizations alter their fixed schedules whenever sufficient reason justifies. Railroad train schedules are never so ironclad but what they can be changed to meet unusual conditions. So, while God established certain uniform laws in the natural world, as the supreme lawgiver and executive, He may interpose and intervene and send His special along lines of divine providence. It is His right to rule and overrule in behalf of the children of His love. God's laws are inexorable.

Harvest of Sin
Are you discouraged because you feel that certain moral laws must inevitably take their course regardless of prayer? "Whatsoever a man soweth, that shall he also reap." If the seed of sin, misery and disease is planted, the result is suffering. God is not going to work a miracle in transforming a harvest of thorns into a blessing. However, here also human experience and God's sovereign plan and purpose must be reckoned with. There is nothing impossible with God, and He rules in every realm of life. You can't stop His program with your criticisms, or your likes or dislikes. Young Augustine, in answer to his mother's prayer, after a wasted youth in sinful indulgences that all but wrecked his life, was not only pardoned and saved and spiritually transformed, but God gave him strength in the newness of life to enjoy more than the allotted three score years and ten.

The next point I bring to you is prayer and the spiritual life of the believer. I am convinced that we need to remind ourselves these days that the whole prayer program of life has a dual relationship toward God, but a relationship toward man. They are equally important. While God does not hear us because of our personal merits or superior sanctity, there are moral and spiritual conditions that practically affect the whole program of prayer. Lack of harmony in the Christian home is a great hindrance to a life of victory in prayer. There must be not only harmony with Jesus Christ but with our fellowmen. An unforgiving spirit is a great "block" in the prayer life. When we stand praying, forgive." Dr. Dixon says, "When you pray, stop and think." Think whether or not you are in harmony with God. Are you willing to have His will worked out even to the smashing of your own plans and purposes which to you may seem right? Are you willing to do that which might seem to be wrong in order to be free to do that which God may judge to be right and He can only reveal it when you stand before Him with an open mind. Have you an unforgiving spirit toward anybody? If so, it must be brought under the Blood, and have God touch it and sweep it away before you go any farther in the prayer life.

Forgiving Spirit
Harmony with God and a forgiving spirit toward everybody are necessary to successful praying. We have all been wronged. Man's inhumanity to man makes thousands mourn. In all the world no man suffered such injustice as did Christ. He was misunderstood on every hand, even by some of His own disciples. You have never stood so alone as He. He was scourged, rejected, put to an ignominious death. How small are our wrongs in the light of His? Do we resent the wrong done us, do we propose to exact the last farthing? Oh, this paying back men in their own coin. And this among some Christians, believers who have been purchased with His precious blood. How often are we to forgive our brother? Jesus Christ said "Seventy times seven"—times without number. "When ye stand praying, forgive." What then shall be our attitude? This is the very heart of the gospel of reconciliation. Forgive as we forgive? No, Lord, help us to forgive as thou forgave. Help us to be humiliated as He was humiliated, that our prayers may be answered. Let us have God's grace in our hearts, pouring itself out without stint. It is human to err, divine to for-

POLITICAL BEES BUZZ IN SCHOOL

Election of Officers Turns
Wilson Ave. Students
Into Campaigners

Politics are rampant today at the Wilson avenue intermediate school. Tomorrow the semi-annual election will be held for the selection of officers for the athletic association.

Meanwhile, the main corridor has been transformed into the resemblance of a billboard with many election posters which make up in originality what they lack in size. They help turn the hall into a political art gallery. A cartoon by Charles Wyman depicts a scene at a fireside—at least, it is supposed that there is a fireside although there is no fire—in which a boy remarks: "Who would you vote for for secretary if you could vote, grandfather?" He replies: "From all I've heard I'd vote for Louella Sutton."

Cartoons Plentiful
However, alongside of this cartoon is a suggestion: "Vote for Edith Elliott for secretary." To make the matter worse, around the corner is a cartoon showing "Bill" Hallam, attired in blue breeches, red jacket, green muffler, checkered cap and cream colored shoes and stockings chasing a black and white butterfly labeled "secretary." Tom Sawyer and Huckleberry Finn are depicted in a cartoon in which they further complicate affairs by agreeing that "Johnny" Eilers is the logical candidate for secretary.

A warning from the Black Hand, or maybe it was the black foot, instructs voters to be sure and cast their ballot—or ballots, if they can get away with it—for Fayette Wilson for secretary. "Stop, Look, Listen!" exclaims another placard: "Winifred Hunt for president." "Tom Muff has the stuff to be our president," declares a cartoon by Jack Packard. This shows the aforesaid Tom in various athletic actions in which he puts Charlie Paddock, Earl Thomson and Ray Schaak to shame.

Campbell's Soups
Cans of assorted soup—that is, on paper, announce the candidacy of Mary Campbell for president. Says a verse on the placard: "We blend the best we can in skillful combination. On every single Campbell, we stake our reputation." Eugene Fisher, whose name is spelled in piscatory pictographs, seems to be a prominent candidate for vice president. Even the sardines in one cartoon admit it. Voters are urged to get "in the swim." However, he has competition from Dana Van Loon and "Bob" Heck and others. Pre-election prognostications indicate that tomorrow will be a lively day at the Wilson avenue intermediate school.

COMMENT THAT'S ALL

Winter There—And Here
Trying To Lick The World
How To Advertise City
Fortune In Right Thought

By Gil A. Cowan
NEW YORK gripped tight by winter's might! Its people shivering with sickness, shivering with cold. Fiel famine making life miserable. What a picture for relatives here to visualize and know that all of this could be avoided if everyone lived in Southern California.

Here in Glendale the sun is shining. Sure, the air is brisk and overcoats are comfortable, but about all the heat that is needed can be obtained from a hot water bottle and thousands are sleeping in tent houses without any serious injury.

"When Winter Comes" holds little for people here, for the winter of their lives, like the winter weather, comes as a pleasant postlude to the passing years. The joy of living, the eternity of things, as it were, makes Southern California appeal to the mind as all that can be had on this mortal coil. And, yet, it is good to get away from here on a journey, to see and know the conditions of others and hear their hearts cry out for the opportunity to live in this land of the golden sunset.

The elderly elevator man said to me yesterday: "Well, France is trying to do what Germany didn't do—trying to lick the world." Wonder if he hasn't sized the thing up about right. France is taking an extraordinary amount of territory, and it may have some job to hold it.

Also, France is not going to gain a great deal of sympathy from "white folks" by billeting her black colonials in homes of Ruhr citizens. And these "dark clouds" on the horizon are merely forebodings of the storm about to break "over there." America may do well to keep out of the mess for the present.

"Your opinions, suggestions and recommendations are needed on the best methods to adopt for advertising Glendale." Also, "You possess some ideas as to the best methods and the most forcible arguments to present, possibly gained through your own experience, as you know better than anyone else why you reached the conclusion to become a Glendale citizen."

Personally, we wish to extend Advertising Director Twining and Publicity Director McCormack our thanks for the compliment. We do claim to know how to advertise Glendale and that is by putting out a real, honest-to-goodness representative newspaper which is sent away to eastern folks to tell the story of Glendale's growth and progress. And we also know that the only way to have a bigger and better paper is for the merchants and other members of the Chamber of Commerce to give it their full support.

In reference to our conclusion to become a Glendale citizen, it is a case of "Look what the cat dragged in." Brought here as a youngster we have known nothing better, and in our travels have found nothing better.

It would be a joy to reply to Messrs. Twining and McCormack, but we are going to avoid the duty and overlook the opportunity. All we ask is that others give them the information sought. And then may the best be made of it.

A friend of mine once passed out a good line of advice to a young man. "It isn't how much you know," he said. "It is how well you make use of what you know."

There is fortune in that thought if the average post will only consider it carefully. If you really know how to do anything economically and efficiently more than a good living is assured you some place.

Too many people know a little bit of everything and not much of anything. They can do nothing well. They waste effort in trying to do that for which they are not fitted.

In other words, the mind wanders and time squanders, and nothing is accomplished. A determination to do one thing is worth two promises or threats, whichever the case may be.

Stick to your goal, fight and determine to win a battle. After you have written it, address it to someone who has not heard from you for a long time. You will get more enjoyment out of this one little event than anything else done in the day, likely.

Bank Note Numbers to Reveal Bank Wrecker

BUFFALO, N. Y., Feb. 27.—Through serial numbers of twenty $10,000 national bank notes, federal agents hope to apprehend Joseph B. Marcano, alleged wrecker of the Niagara Falls Insurance Company and the First National Bank of Warren, Mass. When Marcano requested a local bonding house to dispose of the securities, said to have been stolen from the Warren bank, he took a check for the full amount of the sales and at the bank requested that it be cashed in $10,000 national bank notes. Serial numbers of those notes have been sent to banks throughout the country.
